

My Tracery Book

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his knee. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never excerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his forehead. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his mouth. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his arm. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never excerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his nose. Any decision to jump in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never excerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his neck. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never excerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his chin. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! collywobbles!

was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his toe. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never excerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his chin. Any decision to swim in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his arm. Any decision to eat in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly sorry for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toilet on his hip. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting collywobbles! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his knee. Any decision to swim in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting waddle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his forehead. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting lollygag! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his mouth. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his forehead. Any decision to swim in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his hip. Any decision to jump in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his neck. Any decision to walk in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his arm. Any decision to jump in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his toe. Any decision to eat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his mouth. Any decision to squat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his chin. Any decision to walk in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his arm. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his nose. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his neck. Any decision to eat in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his nose. Any decision to run in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to eat in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his chin. Any decision to swim in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his mouth. Any decision to eat in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his chin. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his toe. Any decision to jump in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his hip. Any decision to puke in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his toe. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his neck. Any decision to walk in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never excerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his toe. Any decision to swim in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his mouth. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never excerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his knee. Any decision to fart in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting tinkle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his arm. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his head. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting collywobbles! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his forehead. Any decision to run in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting hooter! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his nose. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting lollipop! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his toe. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting hooter! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toilet tribes of (the) Eiffel tower. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his head. Any decision to run in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting tinkle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his forehead. Any decision to throw in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his hip. Any decision to run in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his forehead. Any decision to run in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his knee. Any decision to swim in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his toe. Any decision to throw in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his nose. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his arm. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charming for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his head. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting collywobbles! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his hip. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his chin. Any decision to walk in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his knee. Any decision to run in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting waddle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting kayak! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his toe. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting hooter! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his knee. Any decision to watch in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his nose. Any decision to walk in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting lollygag! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his mouth. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting lollygag! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his nose. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting lollygag! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere apology and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the Inuit tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his mouth. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere apology and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his chin. Any decision to jump in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting tinkle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere apology and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his head. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting collywobbles! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere apology and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his toe. Any decision to walk in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his arm. Any decision to watch in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his mouth. Any decision to run in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his head. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to fart in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his forehead. Any decision to eat in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his knee. Any decision to watch in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his arm. Any decision to eat in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never excerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his forehead. Any decision to jump in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his hip. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his toe. Any decision to puke in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his head. Any decision to fart in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his forehead. Any decision to puke in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never excerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his knee. Any decision to swim in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting tinkle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his arm. Any decision to jump in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting tinkle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his arm. Any decision to squat in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his chin. Any decision to puke in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting lollipop! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Eiffel tower. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his mouth. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting tinkle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his head. Any decision to eat in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his toe. Any decision to eat in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his arm. Any decision to squat in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his toe. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his hip. Any decision to jump in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his nose. Any decision to squat in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never excerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his hip. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his neck. Any decision to fart in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never excerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his arm. Any decision to throw in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his hip. Any decision to watch in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his hip. Any decision to eat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his knee. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting lollipop! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his head. Any decision to jump in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his hip. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his forehead. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his neck. Any decision to puke in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his toe. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his chin. Any decision to puke in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his head. Any decision to fart in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Eiffel tower. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his toe. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting hooter! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his chin. Any decision to run in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Eiffel tower. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his toe. Any decision to jump in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting kayak! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his mouth. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his toe. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his neck. Any decision to watch in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to squat in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his arm. Any decision to throw in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his knee. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his knee. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his head. Any decision to jump in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting waddle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his head. Any decision to eat in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his hip. Any decision to squat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his mouth. Any decision to walk in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his head. Any decision to eat in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never excerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! tinkle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his knee. Any decision to eat in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his forehead. Any decision to fart in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his nose. Any decision to run in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never excerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his nose. Any decision to run in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his head. Any decision to walk in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting tinkle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his chin. Any decision to run in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting waddle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his arm. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his neck. Any decision to eat in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his hip. Any decision to run in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his knee. Any decision to run in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his head. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never excerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his chin. Any decision to jump in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his toe. Any decision to throw in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his arm. Any decision to squat in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his toe. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting lollipop! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his nose. Any decision to eat in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting hooter! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his knee. Any decision to swim in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his hip. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his hip. Any decision to throw in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his head. Any decision to squat in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his knee. Any decision to walk in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his hip. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his neck. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his nose. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting nitwit! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his forehead. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his forehead. Any decision to jump in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting tinkle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his mouth. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! tinkle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his nose. Any decision to squat in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his toe. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his forehead. Any decision to throw in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting lollygag! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charming for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Eiffel tower. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his forehead. Any decision to fart in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting kayak! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his toe. Any decision to run in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting lollipop! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his mouth. Any decision to jump in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting nitwit! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his arm. Any decision to watch in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting kayak! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his neck. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting lollipop! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his head. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting waddle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his chin. Any decision to watch in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his nose. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his forehead. Any decision to fart in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his toe. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his head. Any decision to eat in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his hip. Any decision to fart in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his forehead. Any decision to throw in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his mouth. Any decision to jump in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting lollipop! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his neck. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting nitwit! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charming for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his mouth. Any decision to run in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting tinkle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his toe. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his neck. Any decision to fart in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his hip. Any decision to squat in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his hip. Any decision to swim in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never excerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his hip. Any decision to jump in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never excerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his chin. Any decision to throw in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his hip. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his toe. Any decision to run in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his arm. Any decision to throw in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his mouth. Any decision to swim in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his knee. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting kayak! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his head. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting collywobbles! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toilet tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his knee. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting hooter! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his knee. Any decision to eat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting hooter! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his mouth. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting tinkle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his knee. Any decision to run in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his hip. Any decision to watch in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting tinkle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his hip. Any decision to walk in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his chin. Any decision to puke in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his arm. Any decision to squat in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his forehead. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his head. Any decision to swim in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his forehead. Any decision to watch in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his mouth. Any decision to swim in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his toe. Any decision to run in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his forehead. Any decision to eat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his toe. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting lollipop! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lasagna on his nose. Any decision to puke in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toilet tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his hip. Any decision to throw in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his nose. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his knee. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his nose. Any decision to run in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his toe. Any decision to swim in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting hooter! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his forehead. Any decision to puke in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting tinkle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his neck. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting lollygag! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his toe. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting hooter! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his head. Any decision to walk in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his neck. Any decision to run in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his neck. Any decision to run in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his arm. Any decision to eat in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting hooter! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charming for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his mouth. Any decision to jump in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting lollygag! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charming for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toilet on his chin. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting collywobbles! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his mouth. Any decision to fart in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his hip. Any decision to eat in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his knee. Any decision to fart in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his nose. Any decision to throw in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his toe. Any decision to throw in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his knee. Any decision to run in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his toe. Any decision to watch in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his forehead. Any decision to eat in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his mouth. Any decision to fart in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his head. Any decision to jump in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! tinkle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his neck. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his toe. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his arm. Any decision to swim in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his chin. Any decision to puke in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Eiffel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his toe. Any decision to jump in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toilet on his head. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting hooter! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his hip. Any decision to watch in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting hooter! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his forehead. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting kayak! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting tinkle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his neck. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting lollipop! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toilet tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his toe. Any decision to puke in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his toe. Any decision to run in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his head. Any decision to eat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toilet on his forehead. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting hooter! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting nitwit! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his arm. Any decision to watch in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his nose. Any decision to puke in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his arm. Any decision to puke in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his knee. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his mouth. Any decision to squat in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his knee. Any decision to watch in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his head. Any decision to squat in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting nitwit! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his chin. Any decision to run in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting lollygag! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his nose. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his hip. Any decision to run in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his head. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his mouth. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his toe. Any decision to eat in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his forehead. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting lollygag! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his nose. Any decision to jump in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting tinkle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his knee. Any decision to walk in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting collywobbles! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his forehead. Any decision to squat in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his neck. Any decision to fart in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his forehead. Any decision to swim in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his chin. Any decision to walk in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his nose. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his head. Any decision to walk in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his neck. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his arm. Any decision to fart in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his forehead. Any decision to squat in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his chin. Any decision to swim in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his neck. Any decision to swim in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his chin. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his head. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his chin. Any decision to run in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting hooter! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toilet and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his arm. Any decision to throw in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting lollipop! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his arm. Any decision to walk in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his toe. Any decision to run in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his neck. Any decision to throw in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his toe. Any decision to run in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his forehead. Any decision to eat in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his toe. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never excerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his head. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never excerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his knee. Any decision to squat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his chin. Any decision to watch in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his mouth. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his hip. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his hip. Any decision to swim in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his arm. Any decision to jump in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his forehead. Any decision to watch in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his arm. Any decision to walk in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting hooter! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toilet tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his mouth. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his neck. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting hooter! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his forehead. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting waddle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his forehead. Any decision to watch in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting waddle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toilet tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lasagna on his neck. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his chin. Any decision to run in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting tinkle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his nose. Any decision to eat in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting kayak! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his arm. Any decision to throw in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting hooter! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his forehead. Any decision to walk in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his knee. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his head. Any decision to run in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his head. Any decision to jump in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never excerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his forehead. Any decision to throw in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never excerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his neck. Any decision to puke in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his mouth. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his hip. Any decision to throw in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his hip. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! waddle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his chin. Any decision to throw in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cake on his forehead. Any decision to squat in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting waddle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his arm. Any decision to throw in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting kayak! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his hip. Any decision to swim in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his arm. Any decision to jump in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his forehead. Any decision to squat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his nose. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his hip. Any decision to eat in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! tinkle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his mouth. Any decision to throw in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his head. Any decision to walk in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his arm. Any decision to walk in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! tinkle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toilet on his mouth. Any decision to jump in a circle with my nostrils outstretched while chanting tinkle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his chin. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting kayak! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his forehead. Any decision to walk in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting nitwit! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his chin. Any decision to watch in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his mouth. Any decision to eat in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his nose. Any decision to puke in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his forehead. Any decision to squat in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his head. Any decision to run in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his forehead. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his forehead. Any decision to throw in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toilet and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his head. Any decision to run in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerceise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out bouncing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his knee. Any decision to walk in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerceise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his forehead. Any decision to eat in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerceise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his chin. Any decision to swim in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never excerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his neck. Any decision to puke in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never excerise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his neck. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never excerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his neck. Any decision to throw in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such charming judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his forehead. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ankles outstretched while chanting waddle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charming for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toilet on his neck. Any decision to fart in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting waddle! hooter! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the handsome native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged umbrella on his nose. Any decision to watch in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting lollipop! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charming native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his knee. Any decision to fart in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting nitwit! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his forehead. Any decision to walk in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting lollipop! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his toe. Any decision to jump in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting kayak! tinkle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his chin. Any decision to squat in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exerise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his nose. Any decision to eat in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! nitwit! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the rocky native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned umbrella on his arm. Any decision to eat in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his neck. Any decision to walk in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting nitwit! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Rocky Mountains. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged dog on his arm. Any decision to puke in a circle with my eyes outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow cows every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged water on his head. Any decision to eat in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n lavender-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged football on his hip. Any decision to throw in a circle with my ears outstretched while chanting hooter! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow fishes every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his mouth. Any decision to puke in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his knee. Any decision to watch in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! lollipop! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of dog and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out breathing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n teal-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his forehead. Any decision to run in a circle with my toes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged toliet on his arm. Any decision to walk in a circle with my arms outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of water and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow turtles every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out leaping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his chin. Any decision to run in a circle with my toes outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! lollygag! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly horrible for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out sleeping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his forehead. Any decision to fart in a circle with my fingers outstretched while chanting waddle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cucumber on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting tinkle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lamp and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his nose. Any decision to fart in a circle with my arms outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! kayak! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere water and believe I will never exerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his toe. Any decision to run in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never exerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the toliet tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his hip. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lasagna and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly distinguished for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lasagna on his head. Any decision to watch in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! kayak! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the distinguished native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you throw very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exercise such happy judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his neck. Any decision to walk in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you puke very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly delicious for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned toliet on his knee. Any decision to swim in a circle with my ears outstretchedwhile chanting hooter! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his nose. Any decision to fart in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you swim very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such distinguished judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out limping when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his forehead. Any decision to squat in a circle with my ankles outstretchedwhile chanting nitwit! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cake and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere lasagna and believe I will never exerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lasagna tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his toe. Any decision to throw in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow shoes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) Mississippi River. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n black-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned football on his neck. Any decision to fart in a circle with my fingers outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you walk very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere dog and believe I will never excerise such ugly judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the water tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out throwing when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his head. Any decision to fart in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting snickerdoodle! collywobbles! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of frog and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere toliet and believe I will never excerise such disgusting judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva

I am truly rocky for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the frog tribes of (the) Eifel tower. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned frog on his knee. Any decision to puke in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting lollygag! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the delicious native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you squat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never excerise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly beautiful for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Maine. It was rude of me to burst out jogging when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned cake on his knee. Any decision to squat in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting bumfuzzle! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the beautiful native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of football and your class was not it. I know that you watch very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere umbrella and believe I will never exercise such horrible judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the dog tribes of (the) New York. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n tan-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged lamp on his nose. Any decision to watch in a circle with my eyebrows outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! waddle! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the happy native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow trees every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exercise such handsome judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the umbrella tribes of (the) Europe. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n pink-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged frog on his chin. Any decision to eat in a circle with my wrists outstretched while chanting bumfuzzle! nitwit! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of umbrella and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere football and believe I will never exercise such rocky judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Greenland. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n white-feathered headpiece in the shape of a winged cucumber on his forehead. Any decision to fart in a circle with my nipples outstretched while chanting snickerdoodle! lollipop! was very inappropriate—even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you fart very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow grasses every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never exercise such delicious judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly charminng for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the lamp tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out sitting when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n brown-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his knee. Any decision to puke in a circle with my nipples outstretchedwhile chanting waddle! lollygag! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of toliet and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow lakes every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never excerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Tim

I am truly handsome for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n gold-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned water on his knee. Any decision to eat in a circle with my eyebrows outstretchedwhile chanting lollipop! hooter! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the horrible native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you eat very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow runners every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never excerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly ugly for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cucumber tribes of (the) New Zealand. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned lamp on his knee. Any decision to jump in a circle with my eyes outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! tinkle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the charminng native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere cucumber and believe I will never excerise such charminng judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly disgusting for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the football tribes of (the) The great wall of China. It was rude of me to burst out showering when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n silver-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his mouth. Any decision to squat in a circle with my nostrils outstretchedwhile chanting collywobbles! bumfuzzle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the ugly native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of lamp and your class was not it. I know that you jump very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow farts every day. I hope you accept my sincere frog and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Jonathan

I am truly happy for disrupting yesterday's class on the native customs of the cake tribes of (the) Mexico. It was rude of me to burst out eating when you explained that the tribal chief wore a/n forest green-feathered headpiece in the shape of a wingned dog on his hip. Any decision to walk in a circle with my wrists outstretchedwhile chanting kayak! snickerdoodle! was very inappropriate-even though I was only trying to mimic the disgusting native dance. I understand there's a time and a place for that kind of cucumber and your class was not it. I know that you run very hard as a teacher and deserve respect for teaching me and my fellow salamanders every day. I hope you accept my sincere cake and believe I will never exerise such beautiful judgement again.

Sincerely,

Eva